VOL. XXVIII. NO. 291 CHICAGO, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1922 PRICE 15 CENTS

ADVERSE CONDITIONS

Cold Weather and Muddy Track at Dade Park.

Manoevre Beats Green Gold in Outstanding Contest of Afternoon—Ruby Takes Race.

HENDERSON, Ky., November 15.—Clear but cold weather was the rule here this afternoon, but the track was deep and suited only to the most pronounced mud performers. Small fields were in evidence in most of the dashes and the spectacular feature of former days, when close finishes marked the racing, was absent. The respective winners had comparatively an easy time of it.

The downfall of several pronounced choices proved costly to a majority of the form followers. Considering the bad going and the ordinary starters the volume of wagering was surprisingly large.

The best race carded was the fourth, at three-quarters, in which some fairly high-priced platers met. It resulted in a victory for Manoevre from Green Gold, with Charles Henry in third place. The going benefited Manoevre and he wore down Green Gold in the last sixteenth.

In the Phil Musgrave Memorial Purse, named for the late well-known jockey, who was killed in 1919 by a fall, Ruby won in runaway fashion from Jacobina and Richelieu. The principal supposedly contenders, Smart Guy and Escarpolette, were badly beaten.

Phil Musgrave was a product of these parts, having been born and raised at Mount Vernon, Ind., adjacent to here and was well known. His widow is at present employed in the secretary's office of the local lodge of Elks.

Ormont was favored in the initial dash and he had no difficulty in making good, winning under restraint from Winter Blossom and Albert L.

The success of Ormont was in a great measure due to the vigorous riding of E. Petzoldt, who made quite a reputation at the recent Hawthorne meeting in Chicago. After Nowata had set the pace for a half mile and then tired, Petzoldt sent Ormont into the lead and kept him there to the end, despite the persistent efforts of Water Blossom to dislodge him.

MACBETH A FAILURE.

Macbeth was a prohibitive choice in the second race, but the best he could do was to land in third place, Stump Jr. winning easily from Fernandos.

Macbeth's defeat was primarily due to too much early strenuous racing trying to lass Marjorie Wood, the pacemaker, for a brief part of the contest. After Marjorie Wood was done for the favorite had little left himself and fell an easy victim to his fresher opponents Stump Jr. and Fernandos.

Another favorite went down to defeat in the following race when Royal Dick was badly beaten by Serbian and Mabel Rule. The latter might have been the victress but for going badly lame in the last sixteenth. Black Rock was another to finish in bad condition after the race.

Mormon Elder was regarded as the best in the mile and a quarter dash, but he failed to get a portion of the purse. Lord Wrack, under a good ride, winning from Honolulu Boy, with American Soldier third.

Twelve started in the final race, a mile dash, and Magician won easily from Amanda, with Miss Prosperity one of the outsiders, third. Buckboard might have been a strong factor, but for a slow beginning.

Ormont was claimed out of the first race for $1,300, by J. B. Campbell.

J. Umensetter will ship back to Louisville Ruby and Golden Billows to winter there.

Considering the ordinary card and the bad track conditions a fairly big attendance was on hand to view the racing.

The New Orleans special which leaves here next Sunday will have consignments of horses from E. R. Bradley, G. Drumheller, W. Perkins, J. T. Looney, Cain & Sanford, J. B. McKee, R. B. Allen, J. M. Goode, E. Trotter and many others.

MANAGER M. WINN RETURNS

LATONIA, Ky., November 15.—General manager Matt J. Winn has returned to Kentucky after a week's absence in New York. He will give his attention to contemplated improvements at Churchill Downs and Latonia.

LEGHORN RETIRED TO STUD

Leghorn, the chestnut filly by Celt—Tuscan Red, by William Rufus, has been retired from racing and sent to Himyar Stud in Kentucky, where she will be mated next year with some desirable stallion.

IMPORTANT MACOMBER SALE

Forty-Seven Highly-Bred Brood Mares Coming from France.

Entire Band to Be Sold at Auction at Belmont Park About Middle of December, According to Announcement.

NEW YORK, N. Y., November 15.—The biggest single shipment of bloodstock that ever left a foreign port for the United States departed from Dunkerque Monday on board the steamer Olen of the Furness Line, consigned to Dr. Robert W. McCully of New York. They are forty-seven in number, and come from the famous Haras du Poissy of A. K. Macomber of Paris and San Francisco. They represent an overflow from the stud which he acquired from the estate of the late William K. Vanderbilt of this city.

There are only a few mares in the consignment more than ten years of age and most of them are from four to six years old. They will be offered to American breeders at public auction by George Bain at a great sale which will be held at the private stable of Mr. Macomber at Belmont Park about the middle of December.

When Mr. Vanderbilt took up racing in France he determined to breed his own horses and he bought with discriminating care the best blood to be held in France and England, regardless of price. He also made importations from this country. These mares were mated with the best sires abroad and it was not long before his colors were to the fore in all the French classics. When he died his stable, under the management of the American trainer, William Duke, was the most formidable on the French turf.

NECESSARY TO REDUCE STUD.

Mr. Macomber, at the close of the current French racing season, found himself the owner of 115 mature mares, and as he had in addition forty-five fillies coming on to assume their places in the breeding ranks, he determined that the breeders of the United States should have the benefit of the surplus. His shipment includes mares by Sunstar, Sardanapale, Prince Palatine, Negofol, Prestige, Rabelais, Sweeper II., Oversight, Bruleur, Rire aux Larmes, Spanish Prince II., and other noted sires. They are with foal to Maintenon, Star Hawk, War Cloud, Hollister, McKinley, Rire aux Larmes and Seasick.

From time to time American breeders have imported English and French mares and stallions and their impress on the bloodstock of this country has been of an indelible character. The progress which our thoroughbred families have made has been largely through the infusion of strains that have blended with representative American families. It was so in the case of the French stallions Rayon d'Or and Mortemer and it was equally true of the results achieved later on through the importation from England of Rock Sand and Star Shoot. The blood of this quartet is found in the pedigrees of most of our best horses of the present day.

The mares include Sprocket, a six-year-old by Spearmint, from Lord Astor's Thousand Guineas winner, Winkipop, by William the Third—Maskelyne, by Sweet Maskett, by Disguise, winner of the Futurity; Oneonta, by Maintenon—Court Dress, by Disguise, dam of many French winners; Miss Sweeper, by Broomstick—Urania, by Hanover, granddam of the Derby winner Durbar; War Love, by Prince Palatine—Sun Lass, by Isinglass; Isidora II., by Flying Fox—Isere, by Le Var; Pigeon Pie, by Sweeper II.—Colonial Girl, by Meddler, dam of the great three-year-old filly Meddlesome Maid; Princess of Thule, by Elf—Wallflower, by Meddler; War Memories, by Sunstar—Sweet Lassie, by Orme; Sandblast, by Maintenon—Sand Flake, by Trenton, and Palestra, by Prince Palatine—Adana, by Adam. There are many others equally as well bred, conspicuous among them being a number of daughters of the great mare Foresight, by Halma.

Something of the character of the shipment may be gained by the fact that only eight of the forty-eight mares are as old as ten years, while only one is fourteen. Breeders must realize that Mr. Macomber has sent them a thoroughly representative lot. For them it is the chance of a lifetime to partake of the results achieved by one of the most successful breeders of modern times. American bloodstock men will benefit without the expenditure of a dollar by the researches which made the Vanderbilt stable the most formidable on the continent.

The exact day of the sale will be announced shortly. The present intention is to hold it about the middle of December.

STALLION CHIEF LALLY SOLD

NEW YORK, N. Y., November 15.—James MacManus, whose stallion Chief Lally has been in the care of the breeding bureau of the Jockey Club for several years, has informed that body of the sale of the horse to the United States Remount Service. The stallion has been stationed at White Plains in care of Sergeant Boyce of Troop K., New York State Constabulary.

PREPARING AT BOWIE TRACK

Busy Scenes at Prince George Park for Saturday's Opening.

Expect Fine Field for $5,000 Added Southern Maryland Handicap Inaugural Attraction—Horses Training.

BOWIE, Md., November 15.—Prince George Park, where the final meeting of the year in Maryland will begin next Saturday, presents a scene of activity both in the training of horses and the last minute details in connection with the approaching racing.

Never before at this time of the year were the prospects brighter for a race meeting at the picturesque course of the Southern Maryland Agricultural Association. Racing secretary Joseph McLennan has prepared a particularly attractive program and as there are plenty of horses here of all ages and class there is every probability that the fields will be large, even in the handicaps and more pretentious overnight purses, to say nothing of the valuable stake races.

For the opening day program the $5,000 added Southern Maryland Handicap, for three-year-olds and over, at one mile and a sixteenth, is the stake attraction and as the list of eligibles includes some of the best handicap horses that raced at the recent Pimlico meeting it would not be surprising to see a field of one dozen or more strive for this prize. Two other races each of $1,000 and four of $1,300 complete the inaugural program and the great concourse of people that is sure to be present should witness some excellent racing.

Track superintendent Richard Pending has the course itself in excellent condition and the rain of last night helped to settle the dust and was in every way beneficial, coming as it did just at the right time.

The ever popular Tippity Witchet is one of the horses that will be seen under colors at Prince George Park. He is in tip top condition.

C. A. Stoneham's speedy Dry Moon is taking his gallops in a manner that suggests he is eager to run and will be ready for early action.

Among some of the prospective starters in Saturday's stake feature are Bunga Buck, Blazes, Paul Jones and all are apparently right on edge for the big race.

The Montfort Jones string here in charge of trainer Kay Spence appear in fine fettle, particularly so Rockminister and Surf Rider. The Jones colors will undoubtedly seen in the $5,000 added opening days race.

TREVISO SCORES EASILY

Exciting Sport at Windsor Races Despite Continued Downpour —Attendance Reduced.

LONDON, England, November 2.—So far as the weather is concerned the record of Windsor races has long been an unfortunate one. Even so, there has seldom been a more utterly wretched experience than that of yesterday, when rain never ceased until just at the close of the proceedings.

Naturally, the outlook had a marked effect on the attendance, which was one of the smallest seen anywhere for a long time past. Runners were plentiful throughout and finishes in one or two instances quite thrilling, but as was only to be expected in such holding going, some well-backed competitors met with defeat.

Notably was this so in connection with the two Chattis Hill favorites in their respective races. Corcyrian, in spite of his big weight in the principal event, the Clarence Three-Year-Old Handicap, was saddled in preference to the London Cup failure, Erehwemos, and but for the demand for Treviso, Sir George Murray's colt would have started at a considerably shorter price than 3 to 1.

RACE A ONE-HORSE AFFAIR.

Several others, including Lomount, Silver Thistle, Silvanus and Flavius (which represented the Whatcomb Stable, usually so dangerous here), were also well befriended, but the race resolved itself into a one-horse affair from the outset, Treviso going to the front straight away and winning by an easy three-quarters of a length from the Manton outsider, Gavotte.

Piccadilly, which had a victory to her credit on the course, finished third, on her merits, well in front of the others. The favorite never appeared able to take a place among the leaders. Treviso must be a decidedly improved animal, as a month ago he only scrambled home by a neck from Our Ben in a selling race at Nottingham. Subsequently he carried off a mile handicap at Doncaster, and now has followed this more important triumph.

The other Chattis Hill candidate, Atirovaf, made a much better showing, as it was only

RAIN AT MARLBORO

Big Crowd Despite Unpleasant Weather and Bad Shelter.

The Girl Scores Third Victory of Meeting for R. F. Carman—Purl Wins Again.

MARLBORO, Md., November 15.—Marlboro was never intended for a bad weather track. For the first two days of the meeting the weather conditions were ideal and the only complaint was the dust that was stirred up by the big crowd. Then today there came rain and inadequate shelter made the track anything but a comfortable place. But again there was a big crowd. The dust was transferred to red mud and it was hard to escape either the mud or the rain. This made little difference to the faithful, and there was no lack of enthusiasm, while the changed conditions did not appear to materially affect the attendence.

The track itself is a sandy one that can take a lot of rain without becoming heavy, and apart from the discomfort that came to those who looked on no serious damage was done.

It was another card that gave the sprinters five of the seven opportunities, while the sixth and seventh races were each over the mile and twenty yards distances. Finishes were interesting and several of the starters were horses that had performed Monday or Tuesday of the meeting.

Richard Carman scored his third victory at the meeting, when The Girl was first home in the opening dash, but she had to be ridden out smartly to offset the final rush of St. Angelina, while Olive May took third. Entering the backstretch Woodstock took the winner into a good lead and she needed all of the lead when St. Angelina rushed up in the final eighth and would probably have been the winner in another sixteenth.

Five and a half furlongs for cheap ones, was the second offering and Gus Scheer was best when he won with something to spare from B. E. Chapman's old Bogart and L. Campbell's Streamer was the one to race third. Gus Scheer cut out the running and Mary Rock raced along in second place for almost a half mile when she tired and Streamer went into that position. In turn he was displaced by old Bogart in the short run home. Who Knows, one that attracted some attention before the running, was forced wide on the first turn and was never able to reach a contending position.

"HAPPY" BUXTON IN SADDLE.

Purl, the gelding that Clarence Buxton took from Adam Bennett after his previous winning race, was a repeater, when he scored an easy victory in the seven-eighths of the third race. "Happy" Buxton, who is seldom seen on a half mile course, had the mount and he never left the result in doubt, when he quickly went into a good lead and then galloped along there to the end and had his mount under restraint. Zenotta was the one that attempted to go with Purl in the early stages and Queen of the Spa was not far away, but they both found the pace too hot before the run through the backstretch was completed, and there it was that Tom Norris moved up and he held the second place safe for the rest of the journey. Queen of the Spa stuck it out to be third, while Rey Ennis also beat the tired Zennotta.

Gaudy, racing for L. Campbell and ridden by D. Stirling, was returned an easy winner of the fourth race, which was a dash of five and a half furlongs. H. Daugherty's Glenn took second place, while H. R. Freck's Salt Peter was third. The winner was accorded extensive support in the wagering and the victory was a popular one with the crowd. The start was delayed considerably, but all left in good alignment. Titania and Salt Peter were the ones to cut out the early running, while Stirling was content to rate his mount off the early pace. When rounding the turn, Gaudy responded gamely and quickly disposed of the leaders to win decisively. Glenn, which was outrun in the early stages, came with a rush and took second place. Titania, which raced with Salt Peter, tired badly and finished a belated fourth.

Bodanzky, one that raced for Walter J. Salmon as a two-year-old, was winner of the five and a half furlongs dash that was the fifth offering. He found the muddy going that existed when that race was called to the post much to his liking and the result was never seriously in doubt. At the end he was four lengths clear of Panjandrum and No Trumps, a son of Hastings that is favored in muddy going, took third.

In this race Arrah Go On stumbled slightly after the start, but it really did not have any effect on the result, for he was well beaten before racing half a mile. Then Evadner was somewhat handicapped when Wood-

Here and There on the Turf

Maintained Interest in Racing.

Racing at Washington a Desirable Thing.

Extension of Breeding Following Racing.

The continued interest in racing in the waning days of the season is little short of remarkable. With only racing over a half-mile track to offer as an entertainment for the Marylanders, the little Marlboro course each day brings out immense crowds. Washington being nearest to the track is a large contributor, but as far as Baltimore is concerned the race train has had to be increased in size to handle the travel and late comers have a chance for a seat. Maryland is now truly the home of the thoroughbred and Baltimore alone would readily support a much longer season of racing. Of course, the wisdom of adding to the racing season in Maryland is a debatable question and the Maryland state commission has already seen fit to make one reduction in its duration. It is hardly possible there will be any further curtailing of dates in 1923, although when the first cut was made it was intimated that it would be followed by others, until racing was pruned down considerably.

What is devoutly wished by horsemen is that there should be a way made for a revival of racing at Washington. The race course at Benning still houses thoroughbreds and ever since racing has been banished from the District of Columbia the track has been a favorite training ground. It probably would be a beneficial thing for the turf and the breeding interests if the great sport itself could be returned to the capital of the nation. Benning was the scene of many notable turf battles before its gates were closed to racing and in the flourishing days of the Washington Jockey Club it was an important cog in the circuit. After a long meeting at New Orleans the stables would move up to Benning and that was the curtain raiser for eastern racing. In those days the New York season began on April 15 and the racing at Washington fitted right in to fill the gap between New Orleans and New York.

In those days Maryland did not possess its prominence in racing of the present day. In fact, Maryland then cut scant figure in the turf. But Maryland racing has grown until the loss of Benning is not as serious as it otherwise would have been. Still, it would be a wonderful thing for the thoroughbred if he could again be welcomed in the District. With the various racing revivals that are going on and the constant widening of the horizon of the American turf, it is too bad there cannot be racing in the country's capital.

From time to time there have been movements proposed looking to a restoration of racing at Benning, but they have all died aborning and now that Maryland has so adequately filled in the gap in the circuit both spring and fall, less is heard of a Washington revival. Then, since racing there was destroyed by the Congress of the United States, it would be difficult to revive it without favorable action in advance by the supreme lawmaking body.

Active interest in racing has worked a great good in Maryland and its neighboring states in its incentive to breed better horses. Several thoroughbred farms have been established as a direct result of high-class racing and the encouragment that has been given the breeders. This is far reaching in the influence it has on horses of every description, not alone the thoroughbred. Many a good thoroughbred is doing service in Maryland, Virginia, the District of Columbia and Pennsylvania purely by reason of the wonderful growth of racing in Maryland. The service stallions are not confined to matings with thoroughbred mares. They are doing big things in improving the cold-blooded strains and their influence will be important long after they themselves are only memories.

This has been true of wherever horses are raced. It is always found that in time there is a decided improvement of the farm and general purpose horse. Hunters are of better quality; the polo ponies are better, and the army horse is of an ideal type.

While the racing venture of Messrs. O'Hara, Bryan and Bryson in Mexico City last winter was far from being a financial success, it did a real and, possibly, lasting benefit to Mexico in furnishing the thoroughbreds that were left there. They should vastly improve the native breeds when their racing usefulness has passed. Already some of the purchasers of the American horses have begun breeding operations. The same improvement was done in Cuba, by reason of the racing at Oriental Park. There it was a greater benefit, for racing had been established years before and it has constantly grown in importance. Now there are producing thoroughbred farms on the island and it may not be long before the Cuban thoroughbred will take a prominent place.

With the constantly growing racing circuits there is a corresponding increase in the production of the thoroughbred horse and the thoroughbred horse is much more than a mere plaything.

HORSES AND THEIR WORK

Old-Time Anecdotes Reveal Fondness of Thoroughbreds for Racing When Trained to It.

It has been an age-long controversy among racing men whether or not horses have any consciousness of what they are doing when they compete in races. No less a subject for disagreement has been the question of whether or not a horse can develop a taste or distaste for racing. In this regard two anecdotes, which may or may not have been authentic, serve as an argument in favor of the former contention. They are reprinted from the American Turf Register of December, 1831, and January, 1832, and are as follows:

In the summer of 1831, while Captain T. and Lieut. R. of the United States army were engaged on a survey at Canton, near Baltimore, they had frequently noticed Bachelor and Jumping Jemmy at pasture in a field of the old Canton course. One day, after playing some time, these two horses were observed to walk up leisurely, side by side, to the judges' stand, where they stood for a moment, and then started and ran two rounds out regularly. After the heat, they played together for a few moments, when they again walked up side by side, stood at the judges' stand, as in the first heat, and again started and ran a second heat of two rounds.

The above may be considered as fabulous by many; but an occurrence of a few years since corroborates the truth that horses are fond of the race course when trained to it. During our residence at Geneva there was a beautiful race course at Phelps, six miles north of the former place. Major W., who resided in the neighborhood, had two fine young horses, which had been trained on that course, and run several races with other horses. One day he was passing the course with his racers before a sleigh. They discovered the fence open where they had usually been brought upon the ground and simultaneously made a sudden spring for the course, gaining it in spite of the efforts of the driver to prevent them. They proceeded around the course at their utmost speed, the snow flying at such a rate that the horses were scarcely discernible. When they arrived at the judges' stand, they settled down to a moderate trot, passed out of the field into the road, and went on their journey as if nothing extraordinary had happened.

Equivalent booking odds—Ormont, 65 to 100 straight, 45 to 100 place, 25 to 100 show; Winter Blossom, 1900 to 100 place, 460 to 100 show; Albert L., 315 to 100 show.

Winner—B. c, by Rock View—Bandana III., by Meddler (trained by A. L. Austin; bred by Mr. A. B. Hancock).

Went to post at 1:12. At post 1 minute. Start good and slow. Won driving; second and third the same. ORMONT ran as if much the best in the going, was under hard restraint until in the last three-sixteenths, where he raced into the lead to win drawing clear. WINTER BLOSSOM ran a good race, was a game contender all the way and finished fast. ALBERT L. came with a rush through the last eighth. GRANDEST finished fast. THE ULSTER tired. NOWATA set the pace to the stretch and quit badly.

Scratched—66724 Velma M., 104.

Overweights—Albert L., 3 pounds; Panna, 2½.

66765 SECOND RACE—3-4 Mile. Purse $800. 2-year-olds. Claiming. Net value to winner $650; second, $100; third, $50.

Winner—B. c, by Golden Maxim—Green Dawn, by Greenan (trained by J. McKeon; bred by Mr. T. M. Murphy).

Went to post at 1:45. At post 1 minute. Start good and slow. Won easily; second and third driving. STUMP JR., well ridden and running well in the going, raced into the lead with a rush when reaching the stretch and won under restraint. FERNANDOS also moved up steadily in the last quarter, but, under weak riding, almost lost second place. MACBETH was made much use of in the early running and seemed to tire after disposing of MARJORIE WOOD, but came again near the end. MARJORIE WOOD set the early pace and tired. MISS COLLETTE was always outrun.

Overweights—Stump Jr., 1½ pounds; Fernandos, 2.

TETRAMETER WINS FEATURE

Beats Francis Joseph in Packington Handicap at Birmingham.

Soldier Song Captures Estates Selling Plate and Birmingham Handicap Goes to King Pippin—Double for Butchers.

BIRMINGHAM, England, October 31.—Owing to the abandonment of the August meeting on account of flood there has been no racing at the Bromford Bridge track until yesterday since May. The weather was bleak in the extreme. A keen northeast wind on a course which is naturally exposed made itself felt in an unpleasant manner. The light, however, was excellent, so that the incidents in racing were clearly distinguishable, but the attendance, in common with others at recent Midland gatherings, was below the average. By far the most interesting, as well as the most valuable, number on the card was the Packington Handicap, a $5,000 spring, and for this a really good-class field went to the post. Tetrameter, Pharmacie, Isle of Wight and Francis Joseph heading the party, which also included Ruysdael and the King's colt, John Green.

RIVALS MEET AGAIN.

The meeting of Tetrameter and Pharmacie was specially interesting in that the pair had fought out a close finish on exactly the same terms in the Snailwell Stakes at the Newmarket first October meeting. On that occasion Pharmacie lost by a head, but in the meantime she had finished unplaced to Crowdennis at Newmarket last week, and as Tetrameter had easily won under a big weight at Lingfield the Chattis Hill horse was expected to confirm his earlier defeat of Mr. James White's filly. This was very obviously reflected by the wagering, which found the one figuring as a short-priced favorite and the other starting at 10 to 1. Francis Joseph and Ruysdael were indicated in the market as more likely to trouble Tetrameter than Pharmacie, and while Ruysdael failed altogether to reproduce his Ayr Gold Cup form against Francis Joseph the latter handsome colt put up a great fight with Tetrameter. Marshall Field's representative led to the distance, but was fairly and squarely beaten by a neck in a somewhat prolonged tussle. Pharmacie, as at Newmarket, lost some ground at the start, but she contrived to finish third, just in front of Isle of Wight.

The opening number, the Estates Selling Plate, was won rather easily by Soldier Song, which was not nearly in such strong demand as Glenogle or Vesuvius. He cost $3,000 after carrying off a similar race at Hurst Park in August, but was now retained at an outlay of only $1,700. The other selling number, the Birmingham Handicap, was of the good value of $2,500, and in a big field Donoghue's mount, Egyptian Eagle, started a clear favorite from Lamu, Noctifier, Little Traitress and King Pippin. The last named, which was advertised on the card to be sold in any event, was first away, and, never being caught, won in a canter from Junk and Little Traitress, which were always his nearest attendants. The three-year-old was subsequently disposed of at $3,050 to the Lewes trainer, Poole, on behalf of Mrs. Putnam, and will doubtless now be put to jumping.

FESTINA MAKES THE RUNNING.

Though she had not been placed in any of her previous races, Festina was made favorite for the Coventry Nursery, for which Glastonbury, Hideaway and Phi Phi were all well backed. Festina made the running, and appeared certain to justify her market position, but Phi Phi, which lost some ground through a slow beginning, gradually worked her way to the front and, catching the leader close home, completed a nice double event for the Lewes trainer, Butchers. The running of Glastonbury in this race aroused the curiosity of the stewards, but it was announced that the explanation tendered by the jockey was accepted.

Princess Charming, on the strength of an easy victory at Newmarket, was backed to the exclusion of all but two of her opponents in the Juvenile Maiden Plate, but she never looked like catching either Bell Royal colt or Mountain Light, the latter of which gave the Chattis Hill trainer and jockey, Persse and Carslake, a further success to supplement their more important triumph in the Packington Handicap. Good odds were laid on Young Pole to account for four moderate rivals in the Maiden Apprentice Plate, and Lady Nunburnholme's gelding duly registered his third successive victory. In the course of the race, however, he collided with a doll and was unfortunately found to have injured his shoulder.

Monthly Form Book FOR OCTOBER NOW ON SALE

issued on the first day of each month, with complete charts of the previous month's racing in North America, now carries an index showing each and every start of all horses in training, with firsts, seconds, thirds and track conditions designated. By means of this arrangement it is possible for the user of the Monthly Form Book to instantly determine a horse's ability to run on any sort of track concerning which information is desired, as shown in the following examples:

of a whirl. Yet I was always coming back to the subject.

My brother Cash lost his job with John—had nothing except a little handbag each. Luckily Cash, thinking he was going to be a jockey, had bought about forty dollars' worth of saddlery, caps, etc., and had paid for them. They were coming west to him through the American Express, and by showing the receipt and the way-bill to a fellow in the town he got ten dollars. They didn't put up the bar against youngsters going into poolrooms and gambling saloons in Denver in those days, and with two dollars of the ten I went into one of them and began to win. I ran the two dollars into fifty. What would have happened next I don't know, but Cash suddenly came to me saying: "For God's sake, give it up; I've lost all my eight dollars, and we shall have to walk if we lose what you've got there." I had a little sense—and we cleared out.

I then found my way to Kansas City and began to work for the trainer Johnny Campbell whom many may have met in Europe. Campbell had a sort of idea that I was going to be a success. At all events he expected a great deal more from me than I did from myself. He had what he thought a promising colt named Viking. I fear I may have ruined the animal, for directly I got on his back he cleared out with me and ran three miles and a half before he stopped. Well, I ask you—he was only a two-year-old, and a gallop like that was liable to spoil any young animal's career. Johnny Campbell was furious, in fact the maddest man I ever saw in my life. They advised me to keep out of his way, and I was wise to the fact that he'd choke me if he caught me. But I owe a great deal to him, and he was really a kindly soul. Once more I had to have little words with myself and wonder whether it was all worth going on with.

I suppose I screwed up a little more courage gradually. At all events, I wasn't thrown quite so often in the next few gallops I had. At last I actually got a mount in a race—at New Orleans, on Lovelace, for the Beverwyck Stable, and I finished third. I rode in four other races at the same meeting, but didn't win any. I hated myself, for I didn't seem to improve at all. I may as well be frank about it; the truth is that I was so bad until 1893 that I was a byword among trainers. They used to say that if a man didn't want his horse to win he needn't have him pulled. All that he had to do was to send for Sloan. His riding would be handicap enough. Of course, I heard about it all, and it didn't upset me as much as it might have done, for I knew I couldn't ride.

EXPERIENCE WITH "BY" HOLLY.

One little sentence, however, kept mysteriously ringing in my ears: "You may be able to ride some day." Still, this was poor consolation, and as I was a thinking sort of kid it hurt me some when the papers made fun of me. I should like to have had a go for two or three of those newspaper men, but I bided my time, without much hope, however. I just kept my tongue between my teeth and didn't talk so much then as I do now. But those papers! When "By" Holly signed me on at the Bay District track at San Francisco one race writer said that Holly must have engaged me because of the loud clothes I used to wear instead of for any merit I had as a rider.

It was the same old story. I tried and tried and seemed to get worse. I was growing older too—although I never grew up—and I really began to wonder whether it was worth going on with, and in 1894 I decided it wasn't. In thinking about what I should do after determining to give up riding for ever I made up my mind that I'd go on the stage. I looked about and actually had something in view. At that time, however, I had an unknown friend who took a good deal of interest in me. I found out about it afterwards. It was he who told me to stop all the nonsense about the stage and to go on trying to be a jockey. I shall always be grateful to him. Charlie Hanlon and George Rose really shaped my career. Hanlon made me study horses, and I began to stand better with myself and not to wake up in the middle of the night and think I was already a hopeless failure. It wasn't in the stable yard only and on the gallops that I tried to find out all I could. As a matter of fact I discovered the "monkey-on-the-stick seat" quite by accident at the Bay District track.

HOW THE "MONKEY CROUCH" CAME.

One day, when I and Hughie Penny, who was then a successful jockey, were galloping our horses to the post my horse started to bolt and in trying to pull him up I got up out of the saddle and on to his neck. Penny started laughing at the figure I cut, and I laughed louder than he, but I couldn't help noticing that when I was doing that neck crouch the horse's stride seemed to be freer, and that it was easier for me too.

Before that I had seen a jockey named Harry Griffin riding with short stirrups and leaning over on the horse. As he was the best jockey of the day I put two and two together and thought there must be something in it, and I began to think it out, trying all sorts of experiments on horses at home. The "crouch seat," the "monkey mount," or the thousand and one other ways it has been described, was the result. Then the time came when I dtermined to put it into practice. But I couldn't screw up enough courage the first time I had a chance. I kept putting it off. At last, though, I did really spring it on them. Everybody laughed. They thought I had turned comedian. But I was too cocksure to be discouraged. I was certain that I was on the right track. Persevered, and at last I began to win races!

In the whole of my experience I have found that a boy with a nervous temperament makes the best jockey. He is quick and alert to take in a situation, and he becomes a human ferret, finding out things for himself. The Tod Sloan of that day was a bundle of nerves, and he discovered new things every day. I will give you an instance. It was at the Ingleside track at San Francisco that I learned that a horse runs better when "pocketed." Of course it is rough on the nerves of a rider, but the horse breathes in a space where the air doesn't come to him in a rush, and all a rider has to do is to watch his chance and slip through when he thinks the time has come for the effort. He will find his mount fresher and quicker to put it all in.

Another thing which I learned about the same time was that however tired a horse may be in a race and no matter how hard it may be for his rider to keep his position yet the horse will take on new energy if he gets the chance to go through a gap between two other horses or between a horse and the rails. I have studied horses all my life since the time I have just spoken of, and I am quite sure that it's a kind of compelling instinct.

"FORM" GOES TOPSY-TURVY

Result of Year's Latonia Championship Entirely Unexpected.

Rockminister's Performance, However, a Notable Achievement, a Record-Smashing Display of Speed and Stamina.

(BY SALVATOR.)

There are, assuredly, such things as "form players." In response to their demands that entity known as a form-chart was first devised, and in response to their further demands Daily Racing Form itself came into existence, and, after a career of over a quarter of a century, is today not only "going strong," but stronger than ever before. With these facts in evidence one can only futilely surmise what the feelings of the form players must have been when the result of the Latonia Championship came in.

No form player, no form chartist (if I may coin a word) could have been prepared for such a result. Bunting or Lucky Hour was the "form" of the race, and of the Jones pair it was Surf Rider which was fancied by the astute. Nobody could "see" Rockminister, save a few who could not forget the excellent race he had run in the Realization, and even these could not also forget his subsequent failure on three occasions to "bring home the coon skins." Yet he won and won in admirable style. "Handily," says the chart, and "going away." Nor was the performance a cheap one. By no means. A new American record was established for the trying distance (as distances go these days) of a mile and three-quarters. With 126 pounds on his back, receiving nothing from any of the others, Rockminister finished in 2:55⅗, displacing the mark of 2:56⅘ which Exterminator had set up at Saratoga two years ago, and on that occasion Exterminator, while carrying the same weight, was two years older. But this is not all. The performance of Rockminister equaled the best on record in England, the 2:55⅗ of that grand colt Pommern, made at Newmarket in September, 1915. Pommern was then also a three-year-old and he carried the same weight as Rockminister, 126 pounds. His performance occurred in that historic "classic," the St. Leger, which, on account of the World War, had been temporarily transferred from Doncaster and called, for the nonce, the September Stakes.

The Latonia Championship is the nearest parallel to the St. Leger we can boast and it is gratifying to have so fine an achievement as Rockminister's placed upon its register. The pace from the word was very fast—quarter in 23⅘, half in 47⅘, three-quarters in 1:12⅗, mile in 1:37⅗, mile and a quarter in 2:03⅕ and mile and a half in 2:29⅕. To withstand such a pace, being at no time more than five lengths back of the lead, and win "going away" signalizes a feat that any three-year-old of the "great" category might be proud to have accredited him. It is true that the pace at the back end fell off terribly; the last mile in 1:42 as against the first in 1:37⅗ tells the story. All but the winner must have been very weary, for the last quarter was in only 26⅗ seconds, worse than a 1:45 rate. Of Bunting the chart says that he was "utterly exhausted at the end." How many a favorite has been, and over a shorter course! Bunting has one of the most expert trainers that ever was connected with the American turf, but it seemed strange to many that he waited so long before shipping to the scene of action. Bunting arrived at Latonia but little more than twenty-four hours before he went to the post. It might be true that he had no yet rested out from his long railroad journey. Also he emerged from the struggle visibly lame.

HARD TO RANK UPON "PUBLIC FORM."

If there was ever a year when America's best three-year-olds were harder to rank, upon "public form," than those of 1922, it was before my time. When colts beat each other back and forth so consistently, it is axiomatic that they are a poor lot. But it must be said in behalf of ours of this year that they have run some excellent races. Nobody can call the Latonia Championship a bad race. Nobody can call the Realization a bad race. The Kentucky Derby may have been, and doubtless was one. Pillory's performances in the Belmont and the Preakness were excellent. So was Whiskaway's in the Kentucky Special. If any one colt had won all these races, Man o' War would today be a back number to those of facile enthusiasm and short memory. The trouble is that the six different events have been won by five different colts, and as between the five which is the best nobody knows. As regards which is the worst, there is no dispute about that. The reply, all together, to that query would be "Morvich." And yet one little year ago Morvich was being hailed with delirious outbursts of acclaim as one of the wonders of the world, etc., etc. —how quaintly it reads nowadays if one turns back to it!

Morvich is probably not nearly so bad a colt as he is now being made out. The "revision downward" that expert (?) opinion of the son of Runnymede and Hymir has experienced is perhaps no nearer correct than the "brass band and cinema" blare of a few months since. As for Pillory, Bunting, Whiskaway, Kai-Sang and Rockminister, to summarily dismiss them as a "bad lot" seems to me neither just nor justified. Some of the things they have done fails to color such an assumption. Yet when we seek what is customarily referred to as an "outstanding" colt among them, where is he? Let echo answer.

In some respects the result of the Latonia Championship resembles that of this year's St. Leger, its English prototype. In that race Lord Lonsdale started two colts, Royal Lancer and Diligence. Both his lordship and his trainer considered Royal Lancer at least fourteen pounds the inferior of Diligence, yet the latter ran unplaced and the former won decisively, after which he crossed over to the Emerald Isle and added the Irish St. Leger to the English, showing that his victory at Doncaster was no fluke. It is apparent that the son of Spearmint is a much better colt than, previous to this two triumphs, he was considered by the critics and many of them are now saying that had he been a starter in the Derby he might have been a big factor in it.

ROYAL LANCER A STAYER.

As portrayed by the camera of Rouch, the celebrated English photographer of race horses, Royal Lancer is a real staying type in conformation, with notably good bone and the outline of a colt that would be apt to show well over a distance of ground. A capital portrait of Rockminister appeared in Daily Racing Form not long since and it shows him to be a grand individual. There is more to him than to Bunting, Whiskaway, Kai-Sang or almost any other of the stake three-year-olds of 1922. He has, in slang parlance, "two ends to him," with great power at each; a good middle piece between them, a head and neck of masculine character and stout underpinning. He is also a colt of fine size.

I cannot help believing that Rockminister will when retired to the stud make a genuine addition to the desirable stallions of "the Blue Grass." His sire, Friar Rock, was one of the best of the sons of Rock Sand, whose line seems destined to live, a condition much to be hoped for. And Friar Rock, being himself a good race horse and good sire, is from a dam of others, imported Fairy Gold, by Bend Or, the dam of Fair Play, the sire of Man o' War. Mallard, the dam of Rockminister, besides being a Star Shoot mare, is also the dam of this year's Suburban winner, Captain Alcock—in the connection it is also interesting to recall that Friar Rock also won the Suburban. Not only that, he was the first, and is thus far the only, three-year-old to achieve a "double" in the Suburban and Brooklyn Handicaps. As he also won the Belmont Stakes and the Saratoga Cup, Friar Rock scales high both under the handicap and the "classic" tests. Rockminister's maternal line runs direct to old Maggie B. B., and, as the years go by and the generations increase, the merits of the family founded by this daughter of Australian and Madeline, by Boston, become ever more apparent. Mr. John E. Madden, the breeder of both Rockminister and his half brother Captain Alcock, as well as of their dam, Mallard, has always manifested a partiality for the Maggie B. B. tribe, which his results from the use of its members have fully vindicated.

OWE OBLIGATION TO ROCK SAND.

A large number—indeed, all things considered, a very large number—of thoroughbred stallions have been imported into this country in the last twenty years and devoted to that most laudable enterprise, "the improvement of the breed of horses," but of them all only a few have accomplished much in speeding this "consummation devoutly to be wished." According to my lights, we owe more to Rock Sand and Star Shoot than all the rest of them combined, and it is pleasing to have these two strains united in so good a colt as Rockminister has shown himself to be. His preference for a distance was developed last season in his two-year-old form and as he comes from a staying line there seems reason to believe that he may ripen into a genuine cup horse—that rara avis of the modern turf.

stock lost one of his stirrups in the running and could offer his mount no assistance.

The sixth race was a mile and twenty yards affair and it went to Sir Adsum, an old gelding that has something of a reputation about the half-mile tracks. At the end Jelley was riding him vigorously to offset the rush of George Washington. Jelley rushed Sir Adsum away from the barrier with such success that he was showing the way at the first turn and he never surrendered the lead. Jap Muma was showing in second place, while Stirling was rating George Washington along in third place. The second turn of the course Sir Adsum increased his lead until he was well clear and then it was that Stirling moved up on George Washington and moved into second place. In the final quarter Sir Adsum was tiring, but George Washington was not good enough to catch him.

There was a rattling finish came out of the mile and twenty yards in the concluding race when Prospector just got up after a long drive to beat Le Bleuet by a narrow margin, while La Kross saved third. Prospector was never far away and responding gamely to a hard stretch drive gradually wore the pacemaker down to be winner in the closing strides by a head. Le Bleuet only beat La Kross by three parts of a length for third when that old fellow was closing in gallant fashion.

T. J. Donohue shipped the F. Ambrose Clark stable to Aiken, S. C., on Tuesday from Pimlico, where they will go into winter quarters. Jockey Romanelli, who rode on the flat for the stable, left for New Orleans.

S. S. Bender was a visitor this afternoon in the interests of the coming Havana meeting.

C. C. Smithson claimed Star Court following his winning race yesterday from R. Walzer for $900.

C. Buxton will ship to Tijuana at the conclusion of the Bowie meeting. Buxton will take two future riders, K. Sigholtz and Lavine, to that point and both will make their first appearance under colors at the Mexican track.

The yearling bay filly by Superman—Washerwoman, a half-sister to Day Morning, that Jesse Smith obtained from John E. Madden in a trade for the three-year-old filly Confusion, worked a quarter in 23⅕ over the Pimlico track this morning.

R. A. Smith has sent Walter M. Jeffords' Two Feathers and Miss Smith to Berlin, Maryland, where they have gone into winter quarters. Smith will go there Tuesday to take up fifteen yearlings. L. Morris and C. Taylor, the stable jockeys, will ride at Bowie, where Charles King will make their engagements.

Considerable shipments were made from Pimlico to Bowie this morning. The Pimlico track has been closed for the winter and horses that had stabled there have gone into winter quarters at the driving track.

H. ("Specs") Crawford, the steeplechase rider, has resigned from the J. S. Cosden stable and he will visit England and France, where he may do some riding.

Morris Hayman has completed the arrangements for his daily special to the Bowie track over the W. B. & A. This year the special will consist of three cars and will leave at noon each day.

The first race at Bowie will be called to the post at 1:15 o'clock each day.

All distances under a mile are "about" distances at Marlboro.

H. E. Bilson, who was stricken with pneumonia during the latter part of the Laurel meeting, was a visitor this afternoon fully recovered.

RACING IN THE OLD DAYS

Quaint Publicity and News Notes From American Turf Register of October, 1831.

Though the superficial matters pertaining to the turf and the conduct of racing may change considerably in the course of a century, it is surprising to discover the close parallels in many respects between the sport of today and that of the last century. Few selections could bring this out more strongly than the following notes from the American Turf Register of October, 1831, which were printed under the heading: "Things to Be Noted":

Every gentleman who desires to be admitted a member of the Maryland Jockey Club, and to enjoy the privileges incident thereto, should lose no time in applying for admission through some friend. If postponed until the races commence it will create unnecessary delay and confusion.

It will be expected that no gentleman will assume an office connected with the ensuing races at the Central course that he is not prepared and determined to execute; and it is hoped that every Baltimorean on the ground, whether member or not, will feel so far concerned for the credit of the city, in the eyes of the numerous strangers who will be there, as to set an example of orderly and courteous deportment. Let the friends of sports so animated and manly as those of the turf and for which nature formed the high bred horse, as is evinced by his extraordinary capacity and ardour; unite in proving that such sports, when regulated by gentlemen, may be conducted without immoral excesses, or any extravagance, except that delightful exhilaration which results from seeing human and animal nature highly and happily excited.

Owners of race horses will be expected to clothe their riders in handsome jockey style.

It is important that gentlemen of high character and of known experience in such matters should be appointed judges in all cases.

The Norfolk steamboat company has declined bringing race horses free of expense, on account of the questions and the difficulty that might arise; but has liberally voted $200 per annum toward making up the purses of the club. It is probable the Philadelphia line will adopt the same course.

The sweepstakes, two miles and repeat, run for over the Mansion House course, Cecil County, on Tuesday last, was won in two heats by b. c, Uncle Sam (by John Richards) property of Gen. T. M. Forman, president of the Maryland Jockey Club.

There will be stables prepared at the Central race course for fifty race horses by the 18th inst. As there has been much to do in preparation of the course with all its fixtures in a very short space of time the later horses appear before the races commence, for this first season, the better.

The sweepstakes on the Central course for one and two-mile heats are not made up, and will remain open until the races.

by a head that she suffered defeat in the Frogmore Handicap. Nectarinia, Overseer, and Boscombe were all backed to beat her, and it was the last-named, a gray son of Roi Herode and Sospel, which accomplished her downfall. Atirovaf was only caught on the post and doubtless the weight told against her in the end.

Half a score of moderate juveniles turned out for the Mill Maiden Selling Plate, the two chosen for chief support being Amphora gelding and Miss White, but the spoils were earned easily by Leeds United from Pope's stable at Royston. The youngster led from start to finish, and was ridden by the north-country jockey F. Jones, whose younger brother, R. A., steered both Treviso and Boscombe to victory.

Previously to this, however, young Jones experienced a set-back, as, after finishing first on Nous Verrons in the Rays Selling Handicap, his mount was disqualified for crossing. The interference took place, not with the second, but the third, Glen Eagle, whose rider lodged the complaint. Prolific took Nous Verrons' place as the winner, but the position of second was not of great value to Glen Eagle's owner, the sole surplus amounting to only $275.

The largest field and the best finish of the day were associated with the Black Nest Welter Handicap. Precious and Almond Wine were the two principal fancies for this and a hundred yards from home they appeared to have the issue between them. Little Smirke, however, swooped down on them on the Irish colt Time, and snatched what may have been a rather lucky triumph.
